ACROSS GREAT PLAINS

IT DASHES WITH THE SPEED OF THE WINDS

Gains Time As It Approaches Chicago
--Speed Regulations in Cities and Towns Disregarded
by the Dare Devil.

Chicago, July 11.—Father Time and Walter Scott, the cowboy mine owner of California, at 11:57 today, wound up their wrestling match when the Coyote special from Los Angeles dashed into the Santa Fe depot here. Father Time lost. The special beat the schedule by three hours and six minutes. Scott escaped from the crowd by jumping into an express wagon, and guarded by policemen, was driven to his hotel.

PROGRESS DESCRIBED.

Chicago, July 11.—Walter Scott, the California miner, who has dug vast wealth from Funeral Mountain, Death Valley, is expected to arrive in Chicago at 12:25 this afternoon after a record breaking run over the Santa Fe from Los Angeles. Mr. Scott was speeding across Kansas at more than a mile a minute in an attempt to make up 35 minutes which were lost earlier in the day. The schedule has been changed so as to call for but 45 hours and 35 minutes from Los Angeles instead of the 52 hours required by the first schedule made up.

The distance is 2265 miles. If the Scott special arrives on time it will shatter all former records by several hours. The Peacock special in 1900 took 12 hours and 20 minutes longer to make the journey while seven hours and 14 minutes more were consumed by the Lowe special in 1902. The miner's train was 35 minutes late last night when it pulled into Dodge City, Kansas, at 9:31 o'clock. The run from Dodge City to Kinsley, a distance of 26 miles was covered in 31 minutes. The train arrived at Newton, Kansas at 12:14 this morning and made another burst of speed from there to Emporia, 72 miles in 66 minutes. The special left Emporia ahead of time and speeded for Topeka, two hours away.

ACROSS OPEN COUNTRY.

Kansas City, Mo., July 11.—Walter Scott's Death Valley special arrived at Argentine at 3:39 1-2, changed engines in 2 1-2 minutes and was tearing away through the yards at 3:42. It was one hour and 18 minutes ahead of time. The train went through Kansas City in total disregard of all speed regulating ordinances, crossed the Missouri at Sibley and then struck open country and splendid track which should enable it still further to cut the record. Engineer Bauer took charge here and runs to Shopton, Iowa. Between Topeka and Kansas City, the "Coyote" had to slacken up a bit owing to high water.

ALMOST MILE A MINUTE.

St. Louis, Mo., July 11.—Scott's Santa Fe special arrived here at 7:35 a. m., having covered 221 miles from Kansas City in 251 minutes. The train is now about two hours ahead of schedule and officials estimate that it will reach Chicago at 12:25 p. m. A force of employees lined the track bearing ice to cool the champagne, hoses with running streams of water to wash the cars and with their hats off to catch the gold dust from the windows when Scott's special drew up. The owner of the mysterious Death Valley mine was still asleep. The train stopped only long enough to change engines in the Santa Fe yards here. It is expected the total time from Los Angeles to Chicago will be about 45 hours and 10 minutes.

AN INDIAN VICTIM.

Cody dismissed the appeal," said Dr. Powell, "at the earnest request of his only living child, Irma, the wife of Lieut. Stott of Fort Thomas, Ga."

SECRETARY TAFT EN ROUTE TO THE PHILIPPINES.

The impression is growing that Secretary of War Taft added nothing to his popularity by his severe censure of Panama Engineer Wallace. It is said that his associates in the cabinet strongly disapproved of the language used by the secretary, as it has not been shown that the action of Mr. Wallace in resigning was in any wise culpable. Mr. Taft is now on his way to the Philippines, where he goes for the purpose of smoothing over the snarl in affairs that has recently occurred there owing to the bad feeling between Governor General Wright and General Leonard Wood.

CHANGE OF VENUE MAY BE ASKED

ATTORNEYS FOR BENJAMIN DICKERSON WANT CASE BROUGHT TO LICKING.

Feeling in Coshocton County is Too Much Against Accused for Fair Trial, They Say.

Coshocton, O., July 11.—It was announced here today that as soon as the Common Pleas court of Coshocton county convenes at Coshocton in September, the attorneys of Benjamin Dickerson, who is charged with the murder of Mrs. Hughes of Cooperdale, will ask for a change of venue in the case. This action will be taken on account of the inflamed feeling which is now prevalent in Coshocton county. It is said that the defense will ask that the trial be held at Newark, Mt. Vernon or Zanesville, preferably the first named on account of the convenient connections by rail between the two cities.

Under the new law, these men, if retired, must be given a pension.

STATEMENT OF THE RECEIVER

SHOWS FINANCIAL CONDITION OF PEOPLE'S UNITED STATES BANK.

Notes Issued to Depositors—Officers of Bank Protest Against the Fraud Order.

St. Louis, July 11.—Immediately upon taking charge of the affairs of the People's United States bank, former Judge Seiden P. Spencer, appointed receiver by the St. Louis county court, sent telegraphic orders to the depositors of the bank in other cities, about 50 in number, directing them to discontinue the issuance of money order checks and to report at once the amount of money on hand credited to the People's bank. Judge Spencer then took up the investigation of the bank's financial condition, and issued the following statement of liabilities and assets: Loans and discounts, $1,010,183.12; bonds and stocks, $129,109.92; United States bonds, $75,000; cash and due from banks, $1,393,676.06; building and furniture and fixture account, $19,701.05; expenses, $26,737.88; total, $2,674,748.03. Liabilities: capital, $2,435,000; deposits, $212,718.03; total, $2,647,718.03.

When Judge Spencer arrived at the bank building, situated in St. Louis county just west of the city limits, and in which are also the offices of other enterprises conducted by Edward G. Lewis, the president and promoter of the People's bank, he was met by President Lewis who made the following formal protest against the action of the court: "I, acting as president of this bank, do protest against said order as not just and in every way prejudicial to the interests of both stockholders and depositors, and do surrender said bank and its assets under protest and in obedience to said order of the honorable court."

After Judge Spencer had taken control of the bank was called at which the following were present and signed the set of resolutions protesting against the appointment of a receiver by the court and the issuance of a fraud order by the United States postal authorities: Theodore F. An Assassin

MOSCOW IS THE SCENE

OF ANOTHER TRAGEDY THAT SHOCKS
RUSSIAN ROYALTY

Dead Official Was a Close Friend of Grand Dukes and to That Fact
Commission of Crime
Is Attributed.

Moscow, July 11.—Count Schuvaloff, prefect of the city, was shot and almost instantly killed today as he was receiving a number of petitioners. The assassin escaped in the excitement which followed the shooting.

Later in the day the assassin was found and arrested.

COURT CIRCLES SHOCKED.

St. Petersburg, July 11.—News of the assassination of Count Schuvaloff, prefect of Moscow, reached here this afternoon and created a great sensation. Count Schuvaloff belongs to an aristocratic family and moved in the most exclusive Russian circles. He was an intimate friend of the Czar and of the grand dukes and it is believed that it was because of his friendly relations with the grand dukes that he was killed.

ATTACKS UNITED STATES.

The Novoe Vremya today contains a strong article attacking the United States. The paper demands that no word in regard to peace shall be spoken at the coming conference at Washington, saying that if the plenipotentiaries meet in Washington the Japanese will become mere phonographs for the expression of the views of American senators. "America is the real enemy of Russia," says the article, "and in the future Russia will blush at the sole mention of Washington more than she will at the memory of Tushima or Port Arthur."

FEAR ANOTHER MUTINY.

The gravest fears are entertained by government officials that the dissatisfaction among the sailors of the Black Sea fleet which manifested itself in the recent mutiny among the crew of Kiaz Potemkin, may extend to the naval officials of that squadron. Plans are being made to prevent any spread of the mutinous spirit. For this reason it has been decided to replace the Black Sea naval officers with officers who have been serving on the Baltic. A large number of officers from the Baltic fleet are now on their way to Sevastopol to replace the officers whose loyalty is doubted.

SEIZE CZAR'S HUNTING GROUNDS.

Warsaw, July 11.—More than 2,000 peasants have seized the magnificent hunting grounds of the Czar near Smolna, Russian Poland, and are using them as grazing ground for their cattle and sheep. The peasants are encamped on the grounds and say they are determined to remain there. Over 1,000 head of cattle and sheep are being cared for.

The local authorities made an attempt to expel the peasants, but were promptly met by the peasants, who became threatening. They declared that their cattle were dying, as the pastures yielded no grass and that they intended to remain a fortnight.

IRISH LOSE SEATS

London, July 11.—The government's proposals for the redistribution of seats were rejected, and proved to be more moderate than had been expected. Roughly the idea is to give one member for every 65,000 of population, thereby allowing the constituencies having large populations to elect more members. The proposals will be a gain of 17 seats in England, 10 in Wales and four in Scotland, a loss of 22 seats in Ireland.

OLD RAILROADER KILLED.

Channah, Ind., July 11.—Victor C. B. Kellner, 80, of the Western division of the railroad, was coming into town on a double track when he was struck by a freight car and killed. Coronor Kellner's death was a tragedy. He had been a member of the railroad for 28 years.

John L. Merkle, a Louisville actor, whose home was at Council Bluffs, Ia., committed suicide at a hotel in New York by shooting.

AGREEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

BETWEEN GERMANY AND FRANCE
IN REGARD TO THE MOROCCO AFFAIR.

Both Nations Agree as to Sovereignty of Sultan—To Maintain the Open Door.

Paris, July 11.—In the chamber of deputies Premier Rouvier announced the terms of the agreement between France and Germany concerning Morocco brings a deep sense of relief to the entire country after many weeks of tension, which many persons believed involved the possibilities of war. The text of the three notes fully confirms the general impression relative to the lines of the negotiations.

The German officials' contention for a conference revives the final adherence of France, but Premier Rouvier has secured the safeguards which he insisted at the preliminary conference with Prince Von Radolin were indispensable. The most important of these safeguards is that the conference shall not convey any prejudice to the Anglo-French or Franco-Spanish ententes. While Germany does not specifically assent to these agreements, she formally withholds dissent. This is regarded an important gain for France over the ambiguous position Germany heretofore occupied, and as both the Anglo-French and Franco-Spanish ententes recognize France's privileged position in Morocco, France emerges from the negotiations with this privileged position still intact.

Both countries agree as to the sovereignty of the sultan, the independence of Morocco and the open door without inequality. This has always been the policy of both governments, so neither can claim victory in this respect. At the same time it gives a new lease of existence to Morocco, and appears to put an end to the prospective break of the sultan's tottering monarchy and its subdivision among the European powers.

The agreement moreover recognizes France's special interest in the country, due to the geographical proximity of Algeria, and its right thereby to police the frontier and maintain peace and order. It still remains for the sultan to arrange the program of the conference. Officials anticipate that this will not be an easy task, as the Franco-German agreement so fully circumscribes the conference that it will be difficult to find questions remaining open for determination.

It is pointed out that the sultan of Morocco's position is weakened by the negotiations, as he will no longer have representatives of the various powers pleading for favor, since the entire question of regulating Morocco is now practically taken out of his hands for determination elsewhere.

CHILDREN ARMED

With Revolver Held Up and Rob a Woman in Broad Daylight.

Philadelphia, July 11.—Three amateur highwaymen, the oldest of whom is barely 12, held up and robbed Mrs. Harris of 324 Aspen street in broad daylight and in a busy thoroughfare. It was one of the boldest crimes ever committed in this city and was done at the pistol's point.

Mrs. Harris had been visiting a friend. On her return she walked up Sixth street. When she arrived at Washington avenue the three young desperadoes leaped at her. Two of them planned her against a wall and the third leveled a revolver at her head, while he growled at her in a voice that was intended to be very loud and terrifying, and which, indeed, it was. The effect upon the woman: "Move a finger and I'll blow your brains out," the diminutive highwayman said.

Mrs. Harris was too much frightened to make any resistance or even to call. The little thugs robbed her of a gold watch chain, a sapphire ring and a pocket book containing $10. Then they started to run up Sixth street. If they had walked they would probably have got away safely, but their flight was so slow that they were overtaken by a patrolman. They were all taken to the police station.

The youngest of the boys, named Harry, is 11 years old, and the oldest, named John, is 12. They are all from the same family. The father is a well-known bachelor, by Simon Brand, a wealthy bachelor, to the benefit of a prize suit for $2,000, brought by Mr. Kellner of the city.

BRITISH ARMY IS INEFFICIENT

EARL ROBERTS STARTLES THE HOUSE OF LORDS BY HIS STATEMENT.

Arraigns English People for Indifference to Dangers That Threaten the Nation.

London, July 11.—In the house of lords the Earl of Wemyss and March (Conservative) introduced a resolution traversing Premier Balfour's statement regarding the impossibility of the invasion of Great Britain, and urged the necessity of keeping up sufficient land forces to repel any possible invasion. In the course of the discussion Field Marshal Lord Roberts said the lessons of the South African war had been forgotten. He had no hesitation in saying that the armed forces of Great Britain as a body are absolutely unfitted and unprepared for war, as they were when the South African war broke out. Lord Roberts further declared emphatically that the choice lay between conscription or some practical system of universal training. Only by such means would it be possible for Great Britain to meet the demands of the empire in the event of war.

Lord Roberts, continuing, asserted that any discussion of Great Britain's military position within the limits of the motion proposed by the Earl of Wemyss and March would be entirely unavailing. The country had to deal with a question of infinitely great importance, the question of the life or death of the empire, the issue of which depended upon being ready to defend her eastern possessions and at the same time take part in any affair nearer home, either of which necessitated the placing in the field of an army as large as that of any of the European countries.

Lord Lansdowne, the foreign minister, defended Premier Balfour. He said Mr. Balfour had never maintained that the defense of a country depended solely on the navy. The committee on defense had taken every possible phase into consideration and would, he hoped, be able to work out the problem to the satisfaction of every one. The government decided not to oppose the motion of Earl of Wemyss and March, which was passed without a division.

HERE'S A RECORD

Of Marriage and Divorce That is Mighty Hard to Beat.

Toledo, O., July 11.—Twice divorced and three married, the third time to the first divorcee, is the record of Victoria Todd. Her husband is not far behind her, as he has been twice divorced and twice married. The application to wed was made by Henry M. Todd and Victoria Todd, each almost 60 years of age, yesterday morning. They are from Lenawee county, Michigan. Early in life they were married, but trouble arose and a divorce was granted. Victoria then married a man named Terpenning, but he failed to suit, and she was divorced from him.

Finally after waiting nearly 20 years, the two resurrected their first love, and their troth was again plighted. As Todd left the court he said: "I think I can do better this time and we will never have any trouble."

RAPPED BOSSISM

Baltimore, Md., July 11.—Charles J. Bonaparte, the new secretary of the navy, addressed the National Christian Endeavor convention in Armory hall on the subject of "Pure Politics and Religion." It was the first public appearance of Mr. Bonaparte since he entered the cabinet, and his address was well received. He declared that success would come to the political reformer only when the "boss" and "ring" had been swept away. "Civil service," he said, "applies a caustic to the very niter in our politics."

OVER ONE MILLION DIED.

YOUNG WOMAN MANS YACHT.

Philadelphia, July 11.—Randy Morgan sailed for Europe yesterday on his yacht, "Warrior," with his daughter, Miss Jane Morgan, as sailing master. The financier's wife died about a week ago and Morgan has been looking in health since. His daughter, who has a license to command a steam vessel upon all oceans, suggested the trip in order to give her father a change of scene. She plans a cruise along the coast of Norway.

HEIFNER QUAILED

Before the Scorn and Fury
of Wife No. 1.

HE WEPT LIKE A CHILD

WHEN SHE ASKED HIM ABOUT HIS MISDEEDS

Heifner Has a Hearing Before Justice and is Bound Over to Grand Jury
---Wife No. 2 Not Present at the Hearing.

Cambridge, O., July 11.—Developments in the Heifner case under the "masher law" are proceeding briskly. Heifner, alias Clarence Johnson, was bound over to the grand jury yesterday afternoon and bond was fixed at $500.

The absence of Miss Montgomery was noticed, and only testimony relative to her character and proving the frequent visits of Heifner was sought. Mrs. Dye, with whom Miss Montgomery roomed prior to her departure for Niagara Falls, testified that Heifner had called often, that he was introduced by Miss Montgomery as Clarence Johnson, and that they were left alone in the room on many occasions. Others testified to having seen them together at many places, notably at the Noel Hotel, where Heifner registered as Johnson.

Mrs. Heifner No. 1 arrived yesterday. She is a beautiful young woman, a pronounced brunette, and was tastefully attired in a white shirt waist, black skirt and Oxfords. She said her maiden name was Blanche Marshall, that she was married to Heifner after a courtship of nearly two years. They have no children, and have lived in New Philadelphia all of their married life.

"Last Friday," said Mrs. Heifner, "I first learned of my husband's marriage to Miss Montgomery through friends in Cambridge, who told me he was going by the name of Johnson. This news completely stunned me and I was at a loss to know what to do. I had heard that he kept company with several women whom he had met on his trips, but had hoped this was not true. He came home last on June 2, but only remained long enough to change his collars and cuffs, and since then I have not seen him. What had worried me most was that several times I heard him mention some one in his sleep, and on one occasion was awakened by him embracing me, at the same time calling me 'Ema' and muttering words of endearment."

"I woke him, thanked him for his love, but objected to being called anything but Blanche. During the past two years I have only received $6 per month for living and household expenses, and even this was cut off some time ago. The last I heard from him was through his aunt, who showed me a letter saying that he could not live with me since I chewed the rag too much. I am informed that he purchased a handsome diamond ring for this other lady. Last Friday I conferred with my attorneys, Messrs. Richards & McCullough, in New Philadelphia, and they advised me to come to Cambridge, and proceeded as I have done. No, I have no intention of dropping the case. He had no call for doing what he has."

Mrs. Heifner came to the jail and gained admission to Heifner's cell. She at once began to upbraid her husband, and he broke down, crying like a baby all the time she talked to him. She told him how she had suffered for want of sufficient support, and wound up by demanding to know if he had married Miss Montgomery. To this he made no answer, but continued sobbing.

Heifner was arraigned before Squire R. W. Lindsay yesterday afternoon and bound over to the grand jury on the sum of $500.

ELKS TAKE BUFFALO

Buffalo, N. Y., July 11.—Dusty and thirsty the Elks are in possession of Buffalo. In fact their reign of control extends from the lake front to Niagara Falls and still they come. Fire caused $100,000 damage in the factory of the Ireland and Mathews Manufacturing company, Detroit.

Mr. Bowser As a Poser

Mrs. B. Held Out Lots of Encouragement and Obliging Draped His Toga.

TRIED TO HIDE MIRTH.

Neighbors Came In and Caught Him. However, and God of War Was Turned Loose Again.

WHEN dinner had been concluded the other evening Mr. Bowser made a break for the library and disappeared for the next quarter of an hour. When he reappeared he had a volume of encyclopaedia in his hand and said: "I have been trying to find out something about Napoleon, but I can't get just what I want."

"And what particular thing did you want?" asked Mrs. Bowser.

"I want to know how he used to dress."

"Why, in war he wore a uniform, of course, and in peace he wore a swallow tailed coat most of the time. He wasn't much on dress, you know."

"Didn't he wear a toga or cloak sometimes?"

"Yes, I think I have seen him pictured in both. Why do you ask the questions?"

"I suppose you will set in and call me an old fool, as you always do, but the fact is the B. and T. club are going to give an entertainment soon, and they wanted me to pose for a few figures."

"And what is the B. and T. club?"

"The Bowling and Theatrical club."

"Oh, I see. I didn't know but that it was the Beef and Tripe club."

"That's it—go ahead with your sarcasm!" exclaimed Mr. Bowser as his face began to redden up.

"I have no sarcasm to utter, Mr. Bowser. On the contrary, I think it a good idea and will encourage and as-ist you in every possible way. If you are going to pose as a living picture of Napoleon you had better do it in a toga. It will give your figure more grace. I see no reason why you shouldn't make a great hit."

"That's the way to talk. That's more sense than I've heard you utter in a month of Sundays. When you encourage me that way I'm bound to succeed. Do you think I look like Napoleon in the face?"

"Very much so. That's one reason I married you."

"But am I too fat in the body and legs?"

"Not at all. Napoleon grew very fat after a time, you know. I should say you were just about right. Did you bring home a toga to practice with?"

"N-o-o—that is, I did; but, thinking you would make fun of me, I left it out in the vestibule. I'll bring it in, and you can do the draping while I pose. By John, but you are a good wife to help me in this thing! I thought you'd begin to make fun of me right from the start."

Mrs. Bowser's conscience gave her a hard twinge, but she had made up her mind not to oppose Mr. Bowser in anything he did that evening. When he returned with the toga, which he had hired of a theatrical costumer, he removed coat and vest, and Mrs. Bowser proceeded to drape. When he was ready he was positioned in the parlor and the portieres arranged so as to show only his face and one shoulder, and Mrs. Bowser kept him thus for five long minutes. When his knees began to wobble under the strain she said:

"You may move up and down the parlor now, but don't let your shoulders drop down or your back hump up; also keep that stern look on your face, as if you were at the battle of Waterloo. The cat is following you, so, don't mind him."

Napoleon Bonaparte Bowser paraded up and down with his heart in his mouth, and when he had reached the back parlor doors for the fifth time Mrs. Bowser clapped her hands and exclaimed:

"Admirable! Admirable! One would think Napoleon had returned to life. You will certainly make the hit of the evening, and we shall see your name in all the papers tomorrow."

"Then I will pass for Napoleon, eh?" he proudly queried.

"Pass? Why, you will astonish everybody. Are there any more characters you are going to pose for?"

"They wanted me to be George Washington, but I don't see how I can. Washington and Napoleon didn't look alike."

"Perhaps not, but we must make them. Let me redrape you and then touch up your face with this crayon. The toga is all right. Washington at ways wore a toga in battle, as he was superstitious about having buttons shot off his coat tails. I will draw a black line under each eye and down your nose, and then you must assume a patriotic expression. Let your mouth twist around to one side as if you had a touch of colic. That's the very thing, and you mustn't alter it. Now take your stand between the portieres."

Mr. Bowser moved to his place like a wooden man, and the cat followed and took advantage of his high position to rub against his legs and scratch at his slippers with his claws. Mrs. Bowser went down to the kitchen to get a drink of water and choke over it, and was absent ten minutes. When she returned Mr. Bowser demanded:

"Do you think I can be George Washington all night?"

"I wanted you to catch and preserve the true expression, you see," she replied. "You may now be yourself for a moment. I suppose there are other characters?"

"Yes. They want me to represent the ancient god of war of the Greeks, but I have no idea how the blained thing ought to look. I reckon the toga ought to come in somewhere."

"Of course. We must use it in all the figures. Limber up your legs and then we'll begin on the new figure."

"Wasn't the Greek god of war taller than I am?" he asked as he walked about.

"Yes, rather, but you can stand on Webster's Dictionary to increase your height. You should also bare both arms to the shoulders. Now, stand with your right leg advanced and your right arm raised. I will place this paper knife in your hand. I will draw a second line under your eyes and down your nose and touch up the corners of your mouth. Now, assume a bloodthirsty expression of countenance."

"This way?"

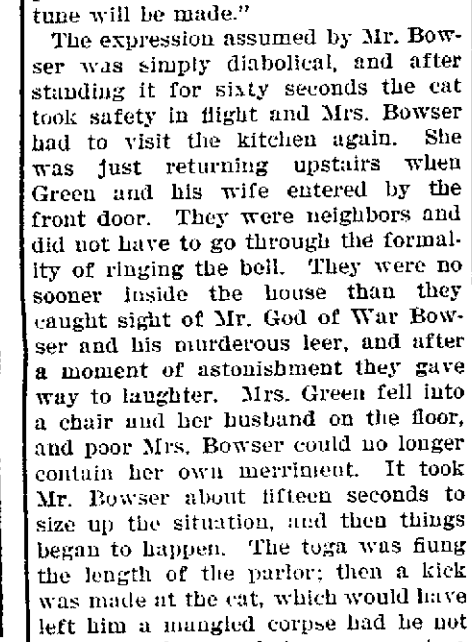

"More ferocious than that."

"How will this do?"

"Not enough. You are a god of war, remember. You are out after gore. There—that's the way. Keep that expression for five minutes and your fortune will be made."

The expression assumed by Mr. Bowser was simply diabolical, and after standing it for sixty seconds the cat took safety in flight and Mrs. Bowser had to visit the kitchen again. She was just returning upstairs when Green and his wife entered by the front door. They were neighbors and did not have to go through the formality of ringing the bell. They were no sooner inside the house than they caught sight of Mr. God of War Bowser and his murderous leer, and after a moment of astonishment they gave way to laughter. Mrs. Green fell into a chair and her husband on the floor, and poor Mrs. Bowser could no longer contain her own merriment. It took Mr. Bowser about fifteen seconds to size up the situation, and then things began to happen. The toga was flung the length of the parlor; then a kick was made at the cat, which would have left him a mangled corpse had he not dodged. Then a chair was upset, a score of swear words spit out in rapid succession, and Mr. Bowser got into his coat and vest, picked up his hat on the way down the hall, and in another moment was outdoors. Then the god of war turned loose, and the people looking out of the window saw him tackle an automobile going past and follow in its dusty trail until both were around the corner. That he eventually overtook it and massacred the three people in it there can be no sort of doubt.

"But am I too fat in the body and legs?"

"Not at all. Napoleon grew very fat after a time, you know. I should say you were just about right. Did you bring home a toga to practice with?"

"N-o-o—that is, I did; but, thinking you would make fun of me, I left it out in the vestibule. I'll bring it in, and you can do the draping while I pose. By John, but you are a good wife to help me in this thing! I thought you'd begin to make fun of me right from the start."

Mrs. Bowser's conscience gave her a hard twinge, but she had made up her mind not to oppose Mr. Bowser in anything he did that evening. When he returned with the toga, which he had hired of a theatrical costumer, he removed coat and vest, and Mrs. Bowser proceeded to drape. When he was ready he was positioned in the parlor and the portieres arranged so as to show only his face and one shoulder, and Mrs. Bowser kept him thus for five long minutes. When his knees began to wobble under the strain she said:

"You may move up and down the parlor now, but don't let your shoulders drop down or your back hump up; also keep that stern look on your face, as if you were at the battle of Waterloo. The cat is following you, so, don't mind him."

Napoleon Bonaparte Bowser paraded up and down with his heart in his mouth, and when he had reached the back parlor doors for the fifth time Mrs. Bowser clapped her hands and exclaimed:

"Admirable! Admirable! One would think Napoleon had returned to life. You will certainly make the hit of the evening, and we shall see your name in all the papers tomorrow."

"Then I will pass for Napoleon, eh?" he proudly queried.

"Pass? Why, you will astonish everybody. Are there any more characters you are going to pose for?"

"They wanted me to be George Wash-

SUPERINTENDENT HENDRICKS AND THE EQUITABLE REPORT.

Francis Hendricks, superintendent of insurance of the state of New York, whose report on the methods employed by persons connected with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of America has created a sensation, is one of the most prominent men in Syracuse, where he is connected with many important financial and industrial enterprises. He has served several terms as state senator and was once collector of the port of New York.

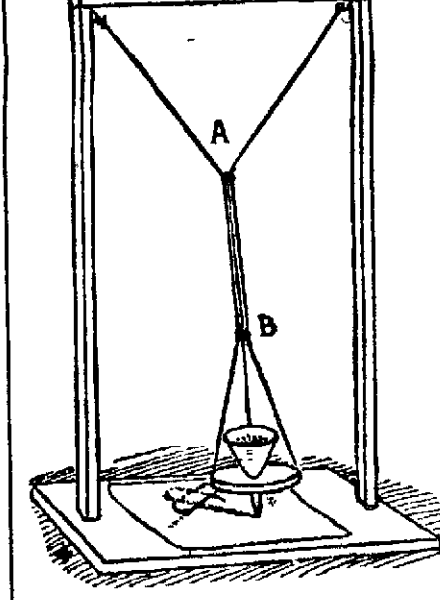

LISSAJOUS' CURVES.

The Salt Artist and the Pretty Designs It Will Produce.

Some very curious natural curved designs may be made with sand or salt and a funnel.

Get a piece of wood about three inches in diameter, and in the center of it make a hole large enough for the funnel to rest in. Fasten three pieces of stout twine near the edge of the wooden disk equally distant from each other, so that when their other ends are united in a knot, as at A in the picture, the funnel will hang in a balanced position in the wooden rest while held in your hand at the knot.

Then on two hooks in a frame, as shown in the picture, placed about four feet apart, fasten two strings, and let them be united with the other three at A. When this has all been done, the funnel, which may be of glass or of tin, should hang with its center as close to the table as possible.

Now remove the funnel and make a knot in the strings at about one-fourth the length above the funnel, as at B. Replacing the funnel, hold your finger at the bottom of the tube and pour it full of sand or salt, and your salt artist is ready to draw.

Hold the funnel off at one corner of the table and let it go, when it will swing off in a curve, the sand or salt marking the line or its motion. Now fill the funnel again and, holding it at the opposite corner of the table, let it go, when it will duplicate the first curve from that corner. If you do this from all four corners you will have a pretty symmetrical design.

If you will now remove the funnel, untie the knot at B and make the knot at some other point, the curves will be different, and you may make an infinite variety of designs by starting from different positions on the table.

You may think that this is great fun, and so it is, but it is more than fun, as the curves really represent a discovery made by a Frenchman, and they are called after him, Lissajous' curves.

Miles of Riding to Get Educated.

Frederick Morse, son of Park Morse, a farmer, was recently graduated from the College of Emporia, Kan. During the four years he was in college he rode horseback more than eight miles every day, going to college and home again, and was not absent a day, says an Emporia dispatch. Morse is twenty years of age. He estimates that he rode 10,000 miles.

FARM GARDEN.

A HANDY HAYRACK.

A Strong Combination Rack, Useful For Various Purposes.

The combination hayrack shown in the first illustration is a convenient one. It is made of pine or other straight grained light wood fourteen or sixteen feet in length, eight inches wide and three inches thick; if of oak or other hard wood, two and one-half inches thick will give sufficient strength. Four crosspieces, B, of hard wood one and one-quarter inches thick and six inches wide, are mortised and firmly secured to the bed pieces.

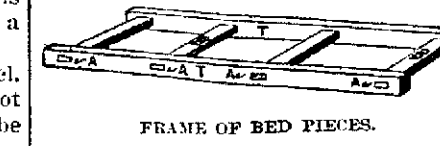

COMBINATION HAYRACK.

This constitutes the frame or foundation and is shown in the second cut. It is frequently used separately to haul rails, boards, stones, manure, etc., and is a convenient, strong and handy arrangement for the purpose. In the first cut is shown the rigging complete, of which its four crosspieces or arms, P, are seven and one-half feet in length, five inches wide and two and one-half inches thick.

If designed for a "sectional rigging" and to prevent side movement a half inch groove is cut into the lower sides of the cross arms, P, so that they fit closely upon the bed pieces. To prevent a forward or backward movement eight strong iron hooks are attached by staples to the sides of the cross arms and when placed upon the bed pieces are readily hooked into the staples, A. Thus arranged one man can easily place the rigging upon or take it from the wagon; or, if desired, bolts may be used to fasten all together by passing them through the cross arms and bed pieces. There is not 25 cents difference in the expense.

Standards, D, can be either stationary or hinged so as to be quickly lowered, raised or removed by a small bolt, as shown at Y. The standards should be six and one-half feet high and quite strong to withstand the pressure of the load as well as to serve as a ladder. The boards, X, should be of the same length as the bed pieces and one inch thick and six inches wide, of straight grained light wood. Wooden pins or stakes, X, are inserted as shown and should be only slightly sharpened. Should the hind wheels project above the boards, X, bridge over them, as shown at S. Wash with petroleum and keep under shelter when not in use.—Country Gentleman.

Illinois Cattle.

As to breeds of cattle most in favor in Illinois Messrs. Mumford and Hall, who have been investigating the subject, state that about 50 per cent of their correspondents favored Short-horns, about 20 per cent Herefords and 18 per cent Angus cattle.

About 50 per cent of the stock growers preferred two-year-olds for stock cattle and feeders, the remainder being about equally divided in their preference for older and younger animals. As regards weight, some 40 per cent of the correspondents preferred cattle weighing from 800 to 1,000 pounds for stockers and feeders, 26 per cent favored those weighing less than 800 pounds and 34 per cent 1,000 pounds or over.

Lamb and Peas.

The Colorado press bureau speaks of a new industry for that state. One of its circulars says: "Colorado's sagebrush and cactus have given way to peas. A few years ago several farmers in this locality, generally regarded as one of the most arid and worthless sections of the state, sowed a part of their land to peas. When the crop neared maturity they turned in their lambs to graze. The results were marvelous. Other farmers did likewise, and the business increased until last year more than 200,000 lambs were fattened in this country for shipment to the eastern markets. They netted an average profit of $1.50 each on an investment of $2.—Exchange.

GARDEN SNAPSOTS

Sow cucumbers in the open ground toward the last of May or early in June.

Plant melons in the open toward the last of May. There is no advantage in planting cucurbitaceous plants until the weather becomes settled.

No plant so strenuously demands freedom from weeds as the onion.

May is the month for tomato planting, though the plants may need some protection until the latter part of the month.

Half the secret of keeping a pleasure garden in proper condition consists in only regarding the little things that ought to be done and doing all work at the right time.

It is not too late to set a border of lobelia which shall look like a long blue ribbon all the summer through. Lobelia is grateful for small attentions, flowering freely.

Ruminations of a Dog.

NEVER did have parents. No one to care for me. Just a homeless dog of leisure, The kind you often see. But I'm thankful for the blessings, And I'm glad my lot ain't worse. I might have been a poodle, With a woman for a nurse.

Oh, you measly little poodle, Baby ribbons in your hair, Put on dog just like a human, The way you're sitting there! Have your bath in perfumed water, Mamma combs your curly locks, Go out riding in your carriage, See the opera from a box!

Oh, you watery eyed impostor! Oh, you dude! You pink nosed fop! Why, a single flea, I'm certain, Would fairly make you hop. You are tucked away at evening With your gouty misery In a nightie and a cradle, Where a baby ought to be.

They call you lovely dove and sweetie— Oh, you curly headed pup! Just come down from off the carriage And watch me eat you up! Why, you pop eyed little poodle! Would I trade my place with you? Bow-wow! No, I wouldn't do it. If you'd throw the nurse in too.

Yes, I know I'm full of sorrow— Full of fleas and all of that— Got no home and have to hustle In the alley with the cat. But I'm happy—oh, so happy!— That my lot it ain't no worse, That I wasn't born a poodle, With a woman for a nurse. —Denver Post.

The Three Slices.

"Oh, mamma," cried little Blanche Philpott, "I heard such a tale about Edith Howard! I did not think she could be so very naughty. One?"

"My dear," interrupted Mrs. Philpott, "before you continue we will see if your story will pass the three slices."

"What does that mean, mamma?" inquired Blanche.

"I will explain it. In the first place, is it true?"

"I suppose so. I got it from Miss White, and she is a great friend of Edith's."

"And does she show her friendship by telling tales of her? In the next place, though you can prove it to be true, is it kind?"

"I do not mean to be unkind, but I am afraid it was. I should not like Edith to speak of me as I have of her."

"And is it necessary?"

"No, of course, mamma; there was no need for me to mention it at all."

"Then put a bridle on your tongue. If we can't speak well, speak not at all."

Names of Vehicles.

The word carriage comes from the old Latin word "carrus," which means a cart.

Cabriolet, commonly shortened to cab, comes from a French word which means a goat leap or caper. The carriage is so named on account of its lightness.

Omnibus is from the Latin and means "for all."

Gig is from the French word jig, and it is given to the vehicle on account of its motion.

Chaise is from the French word for chair.

Sulky is so called because the driver is regarded as a sulky fellow, otherwise why would he prefer to ride alone?

Coupe is from the French word "to cut." It is given to the vehicle because it looks like a coach with its front cut off.

What the Robin Told.

How do robins build their nest? Robin Redbreast told me. First a wisp of yellow hay In a pretty round they lay. Then some shreds of downy floss, Feathers, too, a bit of moss. Woven with a sweet, sweet song. This way, that way, and across; That's what robin told me.

Where do robins hide their nest?

Robin Redbreast told me. Up among the leaves so deep, Where the sunbeams rarely creep. Long before the winds are cold, Long before the leaves are gold, Bright eyed stars will peep and see Baby robins—one, two, three. That's what robin told me. —Little Flower Folks.

Crop Leakage Scandal.
Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture has a rumour of large proportions on his hands as the result of that statement he issued relative to the crop report leakage and the dismissal of Holmes. It seems that Secretary Wilson's assertion that Holmes could not be prosecuted was premature. It develops now that he can and should action be taken against him, the whole story of the leakage together with the people involved in the conspiracy would be brought on President Cheatham of the Southern Cotton Growers' Association is satisfied that thorough investigation of the Holmes case would implicate scores of government officials and their subordinates. There is, however, little to encourage the belief that one hundredth part of the truth about the peculations indulged in has been revealed, and the disposition on the part of Secretary Wilson to let Holmes get away with the admonition to "go and sin no more" is far from being reasonable assurance that all the truth ever will be known.
It is almost unbelievable that able gentlemen who have faced the Doll

Weevil without flinching and waged a war of extermination against the San Jose scale should fear publicity in connection with this crop report mass. But perhaps there are high favorites to protect and in cases of that kind publicity is distasteful and not infrequently very embarrassing.
It is Not an Easy Task.
People who imagine that it is in the nature of a picnic to turn the bosses and grafters out of office, and replace them with honest and better men, should disabuse their minds.
The work can be done, if the people choose to do it, but the doing of it is not a holiday task. It will require hard and patriotic work.
This is concededly the year when the people, without much regard to party, are determined to break up grafting and root out political corruption among public officials and political bosses.
But it must not be forgotten that the political grafters and party bosses are not without powerful friends and potential influences, all anxious to retain their own advantages by maintaining the grafters at bosses in the control of public affairs, that they may the more securely prey upon private interests.
The George B. Cox brand of boss and politician must be put out of business. All the evil elements are for him and his political methods.
Let the decent and respectable and patriotic elements put aside party shackles, unite on the one side of public honesty, and help rid the state of the incubus of grafting.
It is a vain delusion to imagine that public morality and private virtue can continue much longer, if unreined and uncurbed Coism is to continue to dominate the field of Ohio politics.
In addition to all her other troubles Russia is threatened with famine which will partly be due to the war, for the use of the Siberian railroad for military purposes is said to have induced the raising of less crops in Siberia, upon which Russia proper has been accustomed to draw in case of a shortage at home. There seems to be no end of the evils which the conflict with Japan has brought upon the people of Russia. The one hope, however, is, that as a result of the war and the straits in which the government has been put the people will gain substantial benefits in the way of political reform.

IN AN INFIRMARY
John Bang, Survivor of the Sultana Catastrophe, Dies at Tiffin.
Tiffin, O., July 11.—John Bang, otherwise and better known as "Chickie" Bang, was found dead yesterday between Tiffin and the county infirmary, where he was taken a few days ago in order that he might receive needed care and attention. Bang came from a good family and was well connected, but for several years has done nothing but enjoy the large pension which he received from the government. He was one of the very few survivors of the wreck and destruction of the transport Sultana, at Vicksburg, during the Civil war. When that accident occurred he contrived to seize a piece of wreckage and floated fifteen miles before he was picked up and rescued. He was a brother of Charles Bang, of Sandusky, for years the editor and proprietor of the Sandusky Star.

POWERS REMOVED
Newport, Ky., July 11.—In the custody of the United States marshal, under orders of United States Judge Cochran, who last week assumed jurisdiction in his case, Caleb Powers, charged with complicity in the murder of William Goebel at Frankfort in the winter of 1900, was lodged in the Newport jail, where he will be held pending a decision of the legal points arising out of his transfer from state to federal jurisdiction. When Powers arrived at the Newport jail a controversy arose between Jailer Ploger and Mayor Helmhold as to what cell the prisoner should occupy. The mayor insisted that the cell especially prepared for Powers was not the proper place. Ploger and Mayor Helmhold finally came to blows, and the latter was knocked down. During the fight between the mayor and the jailer the furniture in the cell prepared for Powers was confiscated by unknown persons. Subsequently Powers was placed in another cell with other prisoners, where he will remain until Jailer Ploger can secure other quarters for him. On instructions from United States District Attorney Tinsley, warrants were sworn out later for the arrest of Mayor Helmhold for interfering with United States officers.

A Grim Tragedy
is daily enacted in thousands of homes, as death claims in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when Coughs and Colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. G. Mantley, of Oakland, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 at Hall's Drug Store. Trial bottle free.

ON RUSSIAN SOIL
Tokyo, July 11.—The announcement of the landing of a Japanese force on Sakhalin island and the occupation of Korsakovsk, followed by the flight of the garrison, has been received with great satisfaction by the Japanese. The landing of the army at Sakhalin marks the first entry of the Japanese upon Russian territory proper. The Japanese have expressed themselves as pleased to be again in possession of the island, declaring that they have long felt that the bargain under which they relinquished the place 40 years ago was unsatisfactory. The Japanese express the belief that they will speedily control the entire island, as they regard the garrison there as being incapable of serious resistance, and are confident that it will certainly be captured.
Got the News by Snails.
Singapore, Manchuria, July 11.—The news of the mutiny in the Black Sea reached the Russian army through the Japanese, who fired night shells charged with proclamations conveying the information into the Russian advanced posts, scattering the proclamations broadcast. Rain is falling in torrents and all activity at the front has ceased.
Torpedo Boat Crew Held.
Sebastopol, July 11.—The Russian torpedo boat No. 267, which declined to surrender to the Roumanian government with the Kuzak Potemkin, declaring that she had not mutinied but had been forced to follow the mutinous leadership, has arrived here. The members of her crew were arrested and placed on board the transport Prout.

Bright's Disease Cured
By Thompson's Barosma.
No Return of the Disease after Six Years.
I had been troubled with Kidney and Liver complaint for several years. I had suffered with a dull, heavy pain across the back. I had gradually become all run down. A great deal of the time my stomach was filled with gas and I was growing very nervous and was constantly suffering with headache. Finally I discovered a white, cloudy sediment in my urine which frightened me, for I knew then I had Bright's Disease. I began taking Thompson's Barosma, Kidney and Liver Cure at once and three bottles seemed to cure me, but to insure a permanent cure I took three bottles more. Although this was six years ago, I have had no bad symptoms since and have been perfectly free from pain. FRANK K. STURGES, Sturgesville, Crawford Co., Pa. Thompson's Barosma 50c, and $1.00.
THE WILES, ERMAN DRUG CO.
Sawa Morosoff, the Russian "wood-kink," is dead, aged only 41. He employed in his factories over 70,000 workers. At the beginning of the war with Japan he made the government a present of 10,000 blankets, but these never reached the army in Manchuria. Officials tried to sell them for their own profit and one of them, not knowing whence they had come, actually offered them to Morosoff at a greatly reduced price.

RENT INQUISITORS
Investigate Careers of Prospective Tenants and Even Keep Tab on the Stork.
Cleveland, O., July 11.—The rent inquisitor is the latest. His business is to look into the past, present and future of all people in Cleveland who rent property and to investigate prospective renters from out of town. He will not only know about the renters' past records, but keep track of the size of the families. He even keeps tab on the movements of the stork.
All this information is for the benefit of the landlord, of course. A prospective renter applies to a landlord. The landlord excuses himself for a moment. He calls up the inquisitor, who puts him in possession of facts concerning the applicant. Then he returns to the renter, ready to do or not to do business.
The National Information Bureau of Cleveland was incorporated in Columbus by T. D. Russell, W. D. Chandler, C. L. Carpenter, R. A. Kitchen and William Kerzenberger with a capital stock of $10,000.
The bureau will be located at No. 543 Society for Savings building, and T. D. Russell will be in charge.
This is the first institution of its kind in the country, and if it is a success in Cleveland, offices will be opened all over the United States. Eastern capitalists are behind the enterprise.

PRESCRIPTION FOR INDIGESTION.
How Scores of Newark People Obtain Relief.
If it really were known how many Newark residents have been cured of stomach trouble and indigestion by Dr. Davis Prescription, it might perhaps surprise you, but what is more surprising is the fact that any one will continue to suffer with heart burn, sour stomach, water brash, sick headache, mental depression, nausea, and other distressing symptoms of dyspepsia when there is a remedy of such great merit that it almost invariably benefits every one that tries it. Pepsikola Tablets are the prescription of Dr. Davis, physician who devoted a lifetime to the study of stomach trouble, and if your food does not agree with you, if you are tired, nervous, worn out, low spirited, and your energy at low ebb, it may interest you to know that no other prescription in this world has a greater record of cures behind it, an dthere is nothing more certain to give you relief. Wiles Erman Drug company will tell you that although Pepsikola is sold on the fairest kind of a money-back plan, not more than two in one hundred ever come back for their money. This is the surest evidence of its marvelous curative properties, but so that there may not be the least doubt in your mind as to what Pepsikola will do for you, Wiles Erman Drug company will hand your quarter right back to you if you should fail to receive the benefit you look for.

CENTRAL CITY.
The Central City Sunday school will hold an all day picnic, Thursday, July 20, in the grove on Mr. John Grove's farm. A short program has been arranged as follows: In the morning will be a sack race, potato race, foot race, old man's race and a tug of war between the boys and girls. In the afternoon there will be a ball game. Everyone is cordially invited to enjoy a day with our Sunday school.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY
Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.
The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in the white scales are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

IN THE HANDS OF LEVI BEVARD

WAS THE CLUB, SAYS CORONER
LEGGE, THAT KILLED MRS.
WERTS.

Verdict in the Case Returned Tuesday
After Careful Examination of Witnesses.

In the case of Mrs. Frances Werts, who was murdered at her home in McKean township, on the night of June 1, Coroner C. F. Legge after a thorough examination of witnesses, has returned his verdict relative to her death. He says that the evidence adduced from the testimony is that "Mrs. Werts came to her death by being struck on the head by a club in the hands of Levi Bevard."

LITERARY NOTES

The dramatic scenes at Odessa with Russian mutineers in command of a battleship, and the spread of revolution through Russia seem to have been foretold in Mr. A. Caban's remarkable book, "The White Terror and the Red," a novel of Revolutionary Russia, published recently by A. S. Barnes & Co., and already in its third edition. Mr. Caban's story of the revolutionary movement in Russia describes scenes like those at Odessa, Warsaw and elsewhere, and it has been pronounced the most vivid and truthful picture that has been afforded of the spread of revolt in Russia.

Mr. Charles Battell Loomis, whose first novel is to be published this autumn by Messrs. A. S. Barnes & Co., has fled from the tradition of the Jersey mosquito to his ancestral home in Torrington, Connecticut. Few authors are fortunate enough to have ancestral homes in their possession, and Mr. Loomis confesses to a hope that his will remain with him in spite of the fact that he has committed a complete novel.

Since the finish of the ocean race, Dr. Henry C. Rowland, author of "The Wanderers" and a sea farer himself, has been dividing his attention between Henley and the racing at Kell, where he handled the Emperor's yacht Meteor. He will spend the summer on the Continent.

Mr. James B. Connolly returned from the ocean race by steamer, and will pass the summer at his home in Dorchester, with perhaps a trip among his fishermen for the mackerel fishing. His new book, "On Tybee Knoll," is published by Messrs. A. S. Barnes & Co.

TWO ROOMS ADDED

Undertaker J. A. McGonagle has just completed the furnishing of a new and up-to-date addition to his undertaking parlors on West Main street. Two new rooms have been built on the side next to the Swisher Bros. cigar factory, which Mr. McGonagle has furnished elegantly. The front room will be used as a private office, while the back one will be occupied by caskets and used as a show room, one part being reserved for the care of bodies. The main room for merely used for this purpose will be opened and in use when funerals are conducted at the parlors.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT.

Newark Has to Bow to the Inevitable.
Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After the reader has read the public statement of this representative citizen of Newark given below, he must fairly, squarely and honestly come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the party in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work under similar circumstances. Read this:

Charles W. Manville, carpenter, of 24 South 11th St., Newark, N. J., says: "I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to be all that they are claimed to be. They cured me of a bad case of backache and inaction of the kidneys brought on by the grip. I was laid up for some time. My kidneys seemed to be sluggish and the secretions were irregular. At the same time I suffered terribly with pain in the back over the kidneys. There was a constant, dull aching varied with sharp twinges of pain that would strike me at all hours of the day and night. I tried different remedies without effect and had nearly given up hope when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, bought at Grayton's drug store. The result was a cure and a decidedly lasting cure. In 1896 I told of my case in a public statement and now that eight years have passed I can point to my own experience and say that Doan's Kidney Pills make permanent cures."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

"Mark Twain" smokes constantly when writing. He "swore off" for a year and did practically nothing during that period.

The shooting was accidental and was due to Steiner's reckless handling of a shotgun which he was using to add to pandemonium.

MONEY STOLEN FROM CAMPERS

RALPH BRADLEY AND PHIL LAMB
VICTIMS OF A MEAN TRICK.

Thief Entered Tent While They Were Soundly Sleeping and Helped Himself.

Young Ralph Bradley, son of Mr. Lester Bradley, the well known liveman, and Phil Lamb, son of Mr. William Lamb, the well known B. & O. conductor, are camping on the Myers farm at Buckeye Lake. Last Saturday night the boys were nearly dead to sleep, as they had been up all the night before enjoying social festivities with other campers at the lake.

On awakening late Sunday morning they discovered that some thief had entered their tent during the night, while they were wrapped in deep slumber, and had stolen all their money from their pantaloons pockets, amounting to some $15 or $20. They have no idea who the thief or thieves were. Ralph Bradley telephoned his father Monday night for reinforcements, which, it is stated, will be forthcoming from the personal exchequer today.

AMUSEMENTS

The Monday night performance of La Mascotte at Idlewild park was the most successful yet given by the company at the park. A good sized audience witnessed the performance and was well pleased with it.

La Mascotte is one of those light comic operas which, although full of fun and foolishness, meets the demand of theatregoers by possessing a good, earnest plot, which when well presented is the most pleasing of performances.

A PRETTY OPERATIC STAR AT

Miss Emmett makes a charming Bettina and has an excellent voice. Her work in the first act, suggests her great possibilities in a character such as "Carmen." Her audiences are now becoming well enough acquainted with her excellent work that she receives hearty applause upon each appearance.

Montjoy Walker in the role of the Prince is simply fun itself and he is pleasing greatly in the piece for he is certainly clever.

Frank V. French as Pippo, makes a hit, and his conception of the part is good.

R. L. Koch does not have the opportunity in "Mascotte" of displaying his ability as a singer so much in Diavolo, but still he pleases.

The choruses are well sung and the music is well directed.

The patronage at the theatre so far speaks very well for the management and it is hoped that the good class will continue.

SMUGGLERS PARADISE

Toledo Central Point for the Distribution of Smuggled Chinamen.

Toledo, O., July 11.—Disclosures of a startling nature have been made by local Chinese to the inspectors of this city, in which they allege that Toledo is the Central point of distribution for Ohio and Indiana of smuggled Chinamen, who, after being consigned to this city by hired agents from the Canadian border, are shipped to inland points.

Definite information was furnished Inspector Morrow yesterday that a known agent with two Chinamen in tow was seen on the streets of Toledo yesterday. It has long been surmised that this traffic was carried on between Toledo and Vermilion. Colonel Morrow and Charles Wag, the interpreter, have been searching the city all day, and it is only a question of hours until the miscreants are arrested.

The yellow men are sent across from Canada in fishing smacks which throw off the officers, make a trip to a well known fishing ground. Then later

RULES FOR FLIRTING

Des Moines, Iowa, Judge Prescribes Limits to Which Young Men May Go.

Des Moines, Ia., July 11.—Flirtation is to be governed by rules in Des Moines from this time on and those will be formulated by Police Judge Mathis.

"I don't object to love making among people who are acquainted," said Judge Mathis, as two young men were arraigned before him on the charge of becoming too bold. "The young folks can have a good time, too, for all I care, but I am opposed to fellows trying to make up to girls they never saw before. It is not right, and I will not stand for it. The girl who has no desire to flirt must and shall be protected."

The two young men in police court, Charles Shockey and C. E. Connelly, were accused of stopping up to two respectable young women as they dismounted from a car, tapping them on the shoulder and saying, "Hello girls."

"When two young people wish to go out for a sociable time I do not know that it is positively necessary that there be an introduction in a city as large as Des Moines, though that would be more in keeping with the propriety I was accustomed to when a boy. But young men must learn that they have no right to approach a lady in Des Moines who has given no cause for suspicion that she desires male society. "I can not say that it is improper for a young man to tip his hat to a strange lady, but if she does not acknowledge his salutation I believe he should be punished if he presses his attentions any further."

The proposed reform in regard to making new acquaintances in Des Moines is prompted by complaints of railroad companies and the street railway company, which has all its lines merged at one depot. These places have become a rendezvous for young people and many patrons have complained that they have been subjected while there to the persistent attentions of young men.

Joseph Kublitchek, 41, a machinist, committed suicide in his home in Columbus, by shooting. Delirium tremens is assigned as the cause of the act.

In Newark, N. J., a law firm composed of Harold A. Miller and E. Garfield Gifford has recently hung out its shingle. The initials of the two members are H. A. M. and E. G. G.

STEBENVILLE LADS WERE AT MERCY OF NEWARK PITCHER-OUTFIELDER.

Two Steubenville Pitchers Were Unmercifully Pounded Monday by the Locals.

The game put up by Steubenville at Idlewild park Monday afternoon was a farce. Newark went after two pitchers and the ball was batted to all parts of the lot. Out of the seventeen hits secured off the delivery of Laughlin and Houser, not one was good for more than one base. All were singles of the clean cut variety. In addition to the numerous hits, Newark players went to first four times on field errors and got free passes on six different occasions.

Dan Davis was the star hitter in the game. Four clean singles out of six chances was his record. Schweitzer was passed three times to first but out of the two chances at the ball he got one clean single. This was a mighty big grounder to the pitcher. It was coming so fast that Houser got out of the way in short order.

Snodgrass at first played a nice game. Since playing that position, Snodgrass has been using a big glove. On Monday he had a regulation first baseman's mitt, and took all throws in good style.

Newark left this morning for Steubenville, where they will play two return games. At the rate the two teams were playing Sunday and Monday, the trip will mean two more victories. These games count in the percentage as Steubenville is now a member of the Protective association. This means that Newark's average will take a big upward shoot as a result of this four game series.

FT. WAYNE QUITS CENTRAL LEAGUE

AND CANTON MAY BE TAKEN INTO THE LEAGUE AS A RESULT.

Sensation Sprung at Dayton When the Central League Magnates Squabbled Over Springfield.

Dayton, O., July 10.—At a meeting of the Central league magnates here yesterday a sensation was created by the resignation of Isadore Mautner, manager of the Ft. Wayne team, and his consequent withdrawal from the league. Trouble was precipitated through a controversy regarding a game recently played at Urbana between the Springfield and Ft. Wayne teams. Mautner contended that his team was allowed to go into the game as an exhibition contest, and when he was informed yesterday that it should stand as a scheduled game he strenuously objected and withdrew when he found his opposition unavailing. The Ft. Wayne team will be carried by the league until a home for it can be found, and telegrams were at once sent to Canton, Ohio, and Saginaw, Mich. All players under contract will be retained and games played according to schedule. It is understood that Mautner's $500 forfeit will go into the league treasury. The league ratified the thirteen-men limit and maximum salary of $1,300, with which all teams will be required to conform within the next week, as nearly all had violated the regulations.

Lancaster, O., July 11.—Robinson, who pitched for Massillon against the locals yesterday, was badly off. SPORTING NOTES.
Crookie Crutcher of the Mogul aggregation, has been released by Manager Drumm. He left Monday night for his home. Crutcher is considering an offer from Peoria of the Three-L league.

Drumm's new pitcher, Charlie Hatch gets his first opportunity to work in a Mogul uniform at Salem today. He's hoping it's a shut out.

George Upp, with Lancaster early this season, and the ex-Warren-Homesstead southpaw twirler who tried to commit suicide last season over a fair waitress whom he later married, and who jumped Lancaster to accept a higher salary with Johnston, of the "outlaw league" last week, officiated in a 16 inning contest against Wilkesport, losing out 2 to 2. Upp at bats, losing out 3 to 2. Upp at bats, at the bat, and the opposing twirler was hit but 6 times. There were six errors behind Upp.

HOW THE RACE HORSE FELT ABOUT THE WEATHER.

TERRIBLE TEDDY IS OUT OF GAME

NEWARK'S TWIRLER AT LANCASTER SUFFERS FROM BAD ANKLE.

Has Teddy Been Playing for Release in Order to Go to the 'Kitty' League?

Teddy Purcell is laying off for a short time. Whether he is permanent or temporarily out of the game is not known. Teddy went to his home at Lancaster last week and Sunday telephoned to Snodgrass that he had sprained his ankle and could not report for duty. None of the Lancaster papers have chronicled any such accident and it is whispered about town that his failure to return will cause no indignation in Snodgrass' camp.

Purcell has pitched good ball for Newark since his advent in the local camp. At times, his support has been very poor, probably enough to discourage a pitcher.

The fact that Cairo of the K. I. T. league has invaded the Independent league and has made offers to many of the players in this circuit, including Purcell, has given many persons reasons to believe that Terrible Teddy has been playing for his release.

Be that as it may, his departure will cause regret among many Newark fans for he really has many friends here. Others who have followed the work of all the pitchers on the team since the opening of the season refuse to admit that Purcell is any ahead of the rest. The local management has not yet released Purcell and it can not be learned whether or not that such is their intention.

BROKE ALL RECORDS

Capt. C. A. Winder Scores Thirty Out of Possible Thirty at Urbana.

Columbus, O., July 11.—Captain C. A. Winder, Ohio inspector of rifle practice on General Dick's staff, made a record on the Urbana rifle range Saturday afternoon that is believed has never been equalled. He fired six shots at six different targets, all at 500 yards range, in 20 seconds, making six straight bull-eyes and scoring thirty out of a possible thirty.

The army regulations for rapid firing on ranges require only five shots in thirty seconds. It will be noted that Captain Winder fired an additional shot in only two-thirds of the time allowed by these regulations for five shots and even at that made a perfect score.

NEWSPAPER SUED BY UMPIRE HATTON

Is a newspaper privileged to roast an umpire and just how far can it go with the roast?

Morris Hatton of Jackson, Miss., last year an umpire in the Delta league, means to find out. He has filed suit in Federal court at Jackson against the Clarion Ledger for $10,000 damages.

Hatton officiated in a recent game at Clarion and the Ledger featured his decisions as "the work of another rotten umpire." The sporting writer in question then goes on to tell just what he thinks of Hatton and his umpiring. Very little is said of the ball game as, according to the Ledger, there was nothing to the game but Hatton and his work put in on the bum.

The outcome of the case will be watched with interest. Some scribblers in every section of the country delight in retorting to the umpire as rotten and crooked every time the home team loses, whether they have evidence or not. Should Hatton be successful in his suit, which is not likely, it would cause a few hard losers to back up.

A. I. U. DID NOT PLAY.

Manager Herb of the A. I. U. team states that his team did not play against the P. D. Q. Sunday afternoon as was announced. Herb and one other member of the team played in the game with the P. D. Q. bunch, but not the entire team.

Where Le Page Lacked Nerve

By FRANK H. SWEET

Copyright, 1905, by Frank H. Sweet

"But, factor, it seems to me like putting your hands into another's cache," remonstrated Le Page bluntly.

"It's putting our hands upon shoulders that are bending over our own cache," retorted the factor angrily. "Our company came into this country first and ranged it from the divide to the snow line unobscured, and now these interlopers sneak in and appropriate the best trapping valley in the whole section. They must be driven out, Le Page, and you must do it."

"Well," thoughtfully, "I suppose I could do it. But from the divide to the snow line is a big territory for one company to claim, factor, and I don't think any of our men have been into that particular valley for more than two years. It is fifty miles away and off our regular line of work. I generally scatter my men along the river country on account of the animals coming to drink and the easier transportation. That family could remain in the valley a lifetime and not really hurt us. You know that, factor. Besides, they have just as much right here as we have. And there is another thing," coolly, and ignoring the wrath that was flaming to the factor's face, "ever since I heard how they went to the valley last winter, just a young man and his wife, across 300 miles of as bleak country as even a trapper ever turned his back to, I have wished that I could meet them and shake hands."

"You seem to know all about them," sneered the factor.

"Not a word more than you. Antoine was up that way trapping and told you what he told the rest of us. He met the man himself and heard him say that he had not been married long and that the two had reached the valley in good condition. That is all, only you and I look at things differently."

The factor's wrath could not contain itself longer.

"Perhaps so," he stormed, "but you'll do this just as I look at it. You're under contract to the company."

"For five years," calmly, "to hunt, trap and do the work according to my ability. I am satisfied."

"Well," menacingly, "you will take four men and go to this valley and clear it of its vermin."

"How?"

"Any way you like, so long as it's done thoroughly," snapped the factor. "You never asked a question like that before. You must be losing nerve. Shoot them, burn them, drown them; there are ways enough. Or no—controlling himself with an effort—"perhaps you'd better not do that. Stories get out and prejudice the country against us. Frighten them off. A good way is to destroy their camp and provisions and take away all their weapons, then give them so many hours to leave the country. They'll go all right. I followed that method until I was given charge of a post. And, Le Page?"

"Yes, factor."

"You will discontinue having your way of looking at things. You belong to the company, and I voice the company's orders. Understand? Any failure on your part, or leaving the service, means losing everything coming to you. That's the contract."

"I have read it," smilingly, "and my way of looking at things has never interfered with my work so far. You know that?"

Yes, the factor knew it. But still his eyes followed the strong figure as it strode away with anything but friendly looks. There was bad blood between the two, and but for the fact that Le Page was worth any three men at the post and could control the others as no one else had ever done, and seemed to have an instinctive knowledge of where to obtain the best and most pelts, he would long ago have found means of getting rid of him. Moreover, he had an uneasy feeling that the company valued Le Page's services almost as much as it did his own.

Inside of half an hour Le Page had selected ammunition and provisions and picked out the four men who were to accompany him—the best at the trading post, he believed, and men after his own heart; strong, wiry, indefatigable, who would fight or work so long as strength lasted and on whom he could depend. The work was not such as he would like, but that did not matter; it was the company's and he was in the company's service.

The second day they reached the head of the valley, entering it by way of a ravine through which plunged an icy stream. This they waded, beyond, the ground sloped rapidly and was thickly wooded. They could overlook most of the valley.

"Now, men," said Le Page, "suppose we scatter and work gradually down the valley, examining the woods thoroughly. They have likely built a cabin somewhere, and if they see us first and suspect our errand they may try to keep out of sight."

"Wait a moment," exclaimed one of the men. "Isn't that smoke half a mile or so down yonder, over those pine tops?" And he pointed with his finger.

Le Page shaded his eyes.

"Yes, that's smoke," he said after a sharp scrutiny, "and it seems near the stream. They've built there on account of the water. Well, we'll follow right down the bank and settle things at once. But mind, men, no fighting unless there's need. We'll try to persuade them to leave peacefully. If they refuse to go, we'll use force. I think we can get back to the post by tomorrow night."

There was little need of caution, for the ground along the bank was covered with pine needles and gave no sound of their footsteps, and the trees were so thick as to conceal everything a few rods away. It was only when they had approached to within thirty yards that they saw the cabin.

But before they reached it a woman came hurrying out, wringing her hands.

"Oh, mon Dieu, mon Dieu!" she cried wildly. "My husband has been hurt by a falling tree and must have a doctor. It is sixty miles, and I have a little baby and cannot leave it and my husband. Oh, messieurs, messieurs, do not let him die!"

Le Page was a man of quick thought and prompt action and of sympathetic heart. Whirling to his men, he said bluntly:

"You will return at once to the factor. Tell him the expedition is a failure. Wait, I will send him a note."

He scribbled a few lines on the back of an envelope and gave it to one of the men. "Now go!" he ordered. The note read:

Factor—I did not have the nerve after all. I am going to the River des Quinze post after a doctor for the man, who is hurt. I can go quicker than any one else. Of course I shall lose the $200 due me, since I leave the company's service.

LE PAGE.

But he did not lose the money. Three months afterward a letter reached him through an Indian runner. It was from the company's office in London and ran:

By advice of our correspondent at Quebec we have decided to appoint you to the factorship of the trading post which controls your section. Your predecessor we have transferred to another post. Yours respectfully, T. PAYNE, Secretary.

P. S.—Any arrears of salary due you will be sent from the Quebec office.

Still Unruffled.

Uncle Rufus was one of the calmest and most equable of mortals. Nobody had ever seen him excited or impatient. But there came a time that tried him. The furnace in the basement of his house was working badly. He had been experimenting with a new variety of coal, in which there was a considerable proportion of "slack," and it did not seem to be burning. He threw open the door of the furnace, thrust the end of a long poker deep into the smoldering mass and stirred it up vigorously.

The result was startling. A fierce burst of flame and smoke came forth, not only enveloping Uncle Rufus, but blowing out the fine caps in the rooms above and filling the house with soot and ashes.

In the midst of the excitement Uncle Rufus came up from the basement with his usual slow and regular step. His face was black with grime, his eyebrows and eyelashes were singed to a crisp, and what was left of his hair and beard was a sight to behold.

He went to a mirror and took a good look at himself.

"Waal," he said slowly and deliberately, "I was needing a shave and a hair cut anyway."

WHAT THE SIMPLON MEANS.

New Tunnel Will Etch a Romantic and Historical Path.

Deshler Welch is his article, "The Piercing of the Simplon," in the June Century says:

But the piercing of the Simplon will, unhappily, bring with it the final effacement of one of the most romantic and grandly historical paths in human expedition—the closing curtain in the most picturesque drama Europe has afforded. The Napoleonic spectacle was full of surprises. Its argument narrates the complications of society and war; its complexities detail the enthrallment of personal magnetism and force.

The superbly built road over the Alps has remained one of the most fascinating diversions for the thoughtful tourist and has been fraught with memorable experiences. From the moment of embarkation in the yellow diligence, when the whip was cracked over the heads of the post horses at Brieg, until the arrival in the gorge of the Gondo at Iselle it was a continuously unfolding tableau of grandeur and charm. The overture had begun back in the Rhone valley with the castles of Sion and Sierre, the towers of Louche and Martigny at the foot of the Great St. Bernard. But when the ascension of the Simplon began it became a long series of windings through terrifying defiles leading around terrifying abysses and through the wildest of mountain recesses. One was awed by the splendor and stirred with conflict.

ing emotions. It was indeed a retreat—the hospice of the Augustine monks. Who that has experienced it will ever forget the welcoming hospitality of the four secluded brethren in that desolate spot?

Delicate Question of Service.

"Bah, Jove, old fellow, I was waiting to see you, you know. I had just had my man call you up at your apartments, but got no answer. Not home, I suppose?"

"Oh, yes, dear boy. But, you know, my man doesn't like to answer the phone when I am about myself. He says it puts him too much in the light of a serving man, don't chide me, now, of course I could not think of doing it myself when he's there, old fellow," replied Spendrite.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The Universal Language.

Little Clarence Tompkins returned from a visit to a New York cousin with a slang vocabulary that proved very distressing to his father, a village clergyman. Soon after his return he was sent to the library for a certain book. On the way the title slipped his mind, but not until it had created an association of ideas.

"Pop wants a book on rubbernecking," Clarence announced.

"The Rev. Mr. Tompkins wants a book on rubbernecking?" gasped the librarian. "What is the title, Clarence?"

"I forgot," said Clarence. "But it's about rubbernecking," he insisted. He was sent home for more specific information and returned with a slip of paper on which was written, "Looking Backward."—Lippincott's Magazine.

MRS. FREDERIC SCHOFF.

The Able President of the National Congress of Mothers.

Mrs. Frederic Schoff, of Philadelphia, president of the National Congress of Mothers, is one of the philanthropists of this country who have as a champion of unfortunate children will live long after she has gone to her eternal reward. Mrs. Schoff is one of the pioneers in the movement for a mothers' congress and has shown a keen interest in the work of the organization. For many years she has been conspicuous in societies that have for their object the betterment of the lives of children to the care of children. The juvenile court law that was passed in Pennsylvania three years ago was placed on the statute books largely through her efforts, and its result has been to remove children entirely from appearance in criminal courts.

Mrs. Schoff has compiled a book of the laws of every State in the Union concerning dependent and delinquent children and in many other ways, aided by her wealth, has shown her devotion to the cause so dear to her heart.

Mrs. Schoff is also deeply interested in the welfare of her sex and is a famous organization woman. She is a member of the Century club of Philadelphia, one of the largest and most influential clubs of women in the country. She was chairman of a committee whose efforts resulted in raising the salaries of the public school teachers of her city.

Mrs. Schoff has a beautiful home in Philadelphia and has seven children of her own, to whom she is devoted.

bought for a song in secondhand stores, not valuable as hangings, but stained woods in old shapes and full of comfort. There were always flowers growing in that house—not many, but the common kinds, suited to the seasons and giving touches of color and sweetness to the place. Nobody stopped to ask how much money had been spent on the tiny house—the vicar's salary was small and his family large, his home pretty, his wife clever. And he was a gentleman! What more was needed?

The Children's Toys.

One of the most perplexing problems with which the older loving mother has to contend is to decide where to put the children's toys. If placed in the nursery, the toys will be soon and the dust gathers quickly under them.

One of the most convenient devices is a box seven feet in length, three feet wide and three feet deep. This is a hinged top. The box is covered with a deep red brocade, and on the lid is fitted and securely fastened a hair mattress, also covered with brocade. Into this thoroughly ornamental piece of furniture the toys may be stored every night, it being the children's duty to pick off everything from the floor and put it away in a neat and orderly manner.

They become accustomed to this task and perform it with perfect cheerfulness and with a delightfully pleasant conviction that they are helping mamma. By the time their early supper is brought to the nursery not a toy is to be seen on the floor and the box which is closed.

Upon this same couch are a number of pieces of bright crochets and dainties and a folded afghan, and here the mother often finds a pussy nap after tucking in the babies.

Folding Beds.

The strange statement has been made that there are people in the world who have folding beds because they like them and who, being willing to pay large prices for them, enjoy them as articles of household adornment. There does not seem any reason for such a condition of affairs, and when we are further told of a house with many large beds containing only folding beds one can but rub one's eyes and ask what next. The folding bed is an article of utility, but it is difficult to view it as an article of ornament. Its proper place, and its only place, is in a small room where space cannot be had for an open bed. It is decidedly unsanitary, because it is generally kept closed during the day. Some people would have us believe it is dangerous because it has been known to fold up of itself and embrace the sleeper with sometimes fatal conclusions. It is seldom beautiful, even though it may be a handsome article of furniture, for it generally aspires to be something which it is not. A handsomely carved chest or wardrobe, if one must have a heavy piece of carved furniture, would be more logical and more beautiful.—Scientific American.

Bread and Butter Rolls.

There is a knack about preparing the dainty bread and butter rolls for luncheon or the 5 o'clock tea that not every housekeeper possesses. To roll easily the bread must not be more than a day old, while the loaves should not be more than five or six inches in diameter. Cut the slices very thin with a sharp knife, buttering each time before slicing. Trim off the crust and roll lightly, pressing just enough to have the folds adhere. If preferred, the bread can be spread with a fine paste of shrimp, anchovy, chicken, cream cheese, salad or fig before rolling. For children's parties or occasions when little rolls are desired these little rolls are tied with a ribbon, but as ribbon adds nothing to their attractiveness it is best dispensed with under ordinary circumstances.

Rolling a Jacket.

When a tailor has a pocket to refine he first rips out half of the old lining for a pattern, leaving the other attached as a guide. Then he cuts the new lining from the pattern and sews it up, leaving the underarm seams open. He bastes in one half of the lining, fitting it along the front and bottom of the jacket and then rips out the half of the old lining that was left attached and bastes in the remaining half of the new. Now he turns the new lining around the bottom, neck and fronts and last of all he does the buttonholes and underarm seams, into which any excess of material can go. After this is done the linings of the sleeves are put in.

Helpful Ideas.

A woman who does her own housework and who always manages to look neat and tidy has given some helpful hints. When washing dishes or clothes she has a folded newspaper over her shoulder. Thus she throws away when the work is done, and her apron is kept perfectly dry. She also keeps a pair of long laces to draw over her sleeves when she is going or dusting or doing anything about the house when she does not like to crumple her sleeves by tucking them up.

The Perfumed Bath.

No woman of fashion fails to perfume her bath in these days. By this means the body becomes saturated with a fine delicate odor. Tablets for perfuming the bath come in every color, from a plain violet to all sorts of fragrances. One of these dropped into a tub of water will perfume not only the bath but the room, but the room and the bath.

Marble Surfaces.

Marble surfaces should be cleaned by rubbing with a paste made of a large lump of Spanish whiting and a teaspoonful of washing soda in enough water to thoroughly dissolve the whiting. Rub the paste on with a flannel cloth, leave for half an hour and then wash off with warm water and dry carefully.

Laundry Soap.

Buy your laundry soap by the quantity and pile it in such a way as to leave open spaces between the bars in a dry room. The harder it gets the less it will wash away in using, while it does even more effective work.

Powder Paper.

An ingenious and convenient substitute for the ordinary complexion powder is simply a dairy booklet to be carried in one's chateleine and to be used when occasion calls and then with washing and a little water.

Are you at all conscious that you are muggy and that your face is far from clear and dry? Tea owes its flavor to a certain fine volatile oil which is present only in very minute quantities. The fact that it is so volatile renders it most necessary to keep tea in a caddy that is airtight.

Stone Forests.

Stone forests are found in various parts of the world. In many cases they are harbored by some peculiarly of the atmosphere and are found standing just as they were when clothed with green foliage thousands of years ago. The Little Colorado river, in Arizona, has long been famous as a locality for such finds. At one place more than 1,500 cords of solid stone tree trunks, sections, limbs and logs were found by the government surveyors. Most of them were shelled, many seven to ten feet in diameter and from twenty to eighty feet in length. Geologists say that the petrified trees of the Little Colorado were once covered with bark over 1000 feet in depth. Some of the trees have been changed to paper and have assumed various hues; others resemble oak, and when broken open the core is often found lined with crystals of the most beautiful tints.

The Reprobate's Wish.

"Here," said the traitor, "take off those trunks. They're too tight to run in."

"Give," said the athlete who sometimes worried his trainer by going in for disputation, "I wish that policeman I met last week had a right to beat me."

"Had thought what about you?" asked the traitor, who was of English extraction.

"That I was too tight to run in," replied the student regarding Baltimore American.

Three hours later, as the undertaker was about to put the girl into a shroud signs of life became apparent and the physician was hastily summoned. Within an hour the girl was conscious and spoke to those gathered about her. Though still very feeble, the result of a long-continued illness, hopes are entertained for her recovery. GOULD FRIGHTENED
By Mutiny on Board His Yacht—Captain Faced the Angry Sailors.
New York, July 11—The entire crew of twenty-four Norwegian sailors on Howard Gould's yacht, the Niagara, mutinied while the yacht was riding at anchor off Bay Ridge last Wednesday. While the trouble was at its height Mr. Gould barricaded himself in his cabin, leaving Captain Grant to parley with the dissatisfied men. The sailors complained that Mr. Gould had failed to pay them their wages on July 1; that in consequence they had been unable to fitfully celebrate the Fourth, and that for more than a month they had been compelled to live on potatoes and weak coffee.
Captain Grant ordered the mutineers to leave the yacht, but they refused to do so. The captain went ashore and engaged 12 new hands, but the mutineers would not permit them to board the yacht, and seized Captain Grant and tossed him almost the length of the deck.
Mr. Gould witnessed the struggle through the cabin window. Captain Grant then consulted with Mr. Gould, as a result of which the men received their wages and a promise of better food.

F. PRATT GETS THE CAMEL AUTO
NORTH SIDE JEWELER WAS THE HOLDER OF THE LUCKY NUMBER, 13137.
Over 15,000 Chances Were Sold on the Machine, One Person Alone Buying $50 Worth.
A big crowd witnessed the drawing of the Camels' automobile which took place at the corner of Sixth and West Main streets Monday night. The lucky number was 13137 and was held by F. A. Pratt of the new North Side jewelry firm of Pratt & Gibb. At the beginning of the carnival last week, Mr. Pratt purchased two tickets on the machine, the lucky number being sold him by A. E. Williams.
A committee composed of Mayor A. J. Crilly, A. C. Hatch, J. H. Newton, J. J. Carroll and J. A. Chilcote, assisted by W. S. Seymour, C. A. Holler and Chas. Boyd, took full charge of the drawing. Little Miss Ho Horn of 159 West Main street was brought to the platform and blindfolded. It was then announced that the twenty-first number drawn would get the automobile. The crowd stood waiting anxiously until the little girl drew the last number, 13137, which made Mr. Pratt the owner of the auto.
Mr. Pratt has announced his intention of selling the machine, and it is probable that the sale will take place within a few days as there are a number of anxious parties after it. The new auto is being kept for the present at the James Mills automobile garage.
Over fifteen thousand chances were sold, and it is understood that one man purchased $50 worth of tickets.

HANNIGAN WAS LUCKY.
The wheel upon which chances were sold at "The Country Store" at the carnival was drawn by James Hannigan, aged 14 years, 280 Lawrence street. Jimmy was proud of his new wheel as he would have been had he won a farm, and the vehicle will mean much to him, as he is an employee of the Heisey glass plant and has a long distance to go to his daily toil. He received the congratulations of scores of friends over his good fortune.

WITH HAY FORK
Fairfield County Farm Hand Was Harpooned and Dangerously Hurt.
Lancaster, O., July 11—Case Haus-hier, aged about 20 years, was the victim of a terrible accident near Amanda. They were unloading hay in the barn. The large harpoon fork, which is operated on a pulley track overhead was run back in the mow with such force that it ran off the end of the track, falling from the roof to where the young man was working. Although he saw the ponderous sharp tined fork coming down upon him he was unable to get out of the way. One tine struck him in the back, just over the kidneys and penetrated to the back bone where it stuck. He was pinioned down and his cries soon brought the other men to his aid, who lifted the fork off his bleeding body. It was feared at first that he was fatally injured but it is now thought he will recover.

DROPPED 3,000 FEET
Brave Aeronaut Performs Heroic Act to Save the Life of a Woman Companion.
Boston, July 11—Down 3,000 feet to what seemed certain death, William Canfield, a Boston aeronaut, leaped from his balloon in Lynn in order that Mrs. Camille Stafford, who was with him in the balloon, might have a chance for her life. She escaped unhurt, though she landed in an apple-tree; he was badly shocked and hurt by striking a house as his parachute was swung about in the strong wind. Five thousand people witnessed the startling act of heroism.
At the time he leaped Canfield and Mrs. Stafford were in the balloon over a most thickly populated part of Lynn. The balloon was leaking badly and their combined weight was dragging it down. Canfield saw that the only way to save the woman would be for him to cut loose in his parachute.
After a word of caution to her he cut the rope and plunged down. The balloon, which had been in danger of turning upside down, immediately righted itself, when relieved of the man's weight, and lifted the woman beyond danger.
Canfield came through the air like a shot for 50 feet or more, then, suddenly the wind caught his parachute and it flew open.
But the breeze was too strong. He had leaped, intending to land in a spot where there were not a great many houses. The wind swept him out of his course, however, and he was thrown violently against a house. The force of his fall smashed the wooden gutter of the house and otherwise damaged it.
Persons in the house lifted him up and an ambulance was sent for. On the way to the hospital he revived. "Is she safe?" was the first question. Canfield's legs are badly broken, but he will recover.

COTTON SCANDAL

Now in the Hands of the Attorney General

GUILTY ONES FACE PRISON

SECRETARY WILSON WANTS CONSPIRATORS PUNISHED

Broker Price Will Probably Sue the Secretary of Agriculture for $100,000 Damages—Cheatham Goes After Hyde.

Washington, July 12.—Acting Attorney General Hoyt has received from Secretary of Agriculture Wilson the papers in the cotton report investigation. Subsequently the papers were placed in the hands of United States District Attorney Morgan H. Beach, who will probe into the whole subject and make a thorough inquiry embracing every detail connected with the compilation of the statistics involved.

Section 5451 of the revised statutes says that any one who gives or promises to give money, or any other thing of value, to any officer or employee of the government to do, or refrain from doing, any duty, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court.

At the department of justice, it is contended, in opposition to the views of the district attorney, that that section is warrant enough for arresting the brokers and their employees for the part they had in the corruption of officers or employees of the department of agriculture.

It is upon that section that the secretary expects the attorney general to direct the making of arrests. There are so many sections of the statutes that appear to apply to the employees of the department concerned that the secretary regards it as a foregone conclusion that Attorney General Moody will have no trouble in finding law upon which to cause the arrest of Holmes and any other who may be implicated.

Theodore Price, the New York broker who demanded a retraction made an appointment with Secretary Wilson which he did not keep. The appointment was for the purpose of receiving the secretary's answer to his demand for a retraction. The secretary went to the place of meeting and waited for more than an hour, but the broker did not appear. Mr. Wilson expects to be sued for $100,000 or perhaps a much larger sum.

In discussing the prospective libel suit by Theodore Price, Secretary Wilson said: "I should welcome such a development. It might bring out some more facts. Holmes convicted himself by his letters and his statements. What he did was to help one gambler beat other gamblers. I am perfectly willing to stand upon the three actions I took officially: first, putting the whole matter into the hands of the secret service agents; second, sending the entire report to United States District Attorney Beach, to see whether criminal prosecution could be entered upon in behalf of the government; third, making public the report, as a part of my official duty as the head of this department."

"I have no retraction nor other statement to make. I have merely announced that if the investigation had been completed and Holmes had been dismissed there would have been a great cry about the 'whitewash brush' and 'smothering things.'"

Secretary Wilson declared he knows nothing of his own knowledge of any connection of Price with the scandal, and that if the broker has any grievance it is with the secret service officials.

Cheatham After Hyde. Richard Cheatham, secretary of the Southern Cotton Growers Association, is determined to bring about the removal of Statistician Hyde, and has gone to Atlanta to consult with the officials of his association regarding future action. He will undoubtedly make an appeal to President Roosevelt in order that the scandal be probed to the bottom.

Just before the agricultural department closed yesterday afternoon the solicitor gave out a statement relating to the controversy between Secretary Wilson and District Attorney Beach regarding the latter's opinion as to whether those mixed up in the scandal could be prosecuted. Mr. Beach declares that only the report of Secretary Wilson was submitted to him; that he did not see any of the evidence, and that even these papers remained in his possession but an hour.

the secret service agents was submitted to the legal officer; that all the papers were in his possession for two days, and that Mr. Beach voluntarily returned them to the secretary of agriculture with the statement that a prosecution would not lie.

While the controversy between the officials is being waged, Holmes and his associates are unmolested in the enjoyment of wealth.

By direction of Acting Attorney General Day, United States Attorney Ackerman, of Savannah, Ga., is drawing up a bill for an injunction against the steamship lines which recently raised the rate on cotton from Savannah and other Georgia points to New York and New England points. The complaint was made by certain Georgia shippers who represented that the rate was made in order to destroy competition between the all-rail tariff and the all-water tariff. Suit probably will be brought in Savannah within a few days.

PREACHER PINIONED

And Robbed in Broad Daylight While Big Crowd Looked On.

Chicago, July 12.—Rev. F. W. Krueger, a Lutheran minister of West Point, Neb., was held up by four pickpockets on the Northwestern Elevated station at Kinzie street, shortly before 10 a. m. yesterday, robbed of his gold watch and chain, $9 in currency, and two checks, one for $185 and the other for $160. The thieves pinioned the preacher's arms to his side while they robbed him. Then they escaped after fighting their way through the crowd. The platform was crowded at the time and several persons followed in pursuit of the thieves, who, however, got away.

150 MEN KILLED

Cardiff, Wales, July 12.—An explosion of fire-damp in No. 2 pit of the Union National Colliery company at Wattstown in the Rhondda, the center of the great Welsh coal fields, is believed to have resulted in the loss of at least 150 lives. The explosion was followed by the belching of clouds of smoke and dust from the pit shaft, in which 170 men were working. The force of the explosion wrecked the machinery at the mouth of the pit. All communication with the doomed men in this direction is completely cut off. No. 1 shaft, adjoining, has ordinarily afforded communication with No. 2. The 800 men in No. 1 and the few who escaped from No. 2 were drawn up. A rescue party descended, but its work was seriously impeded by the foul air and the falling masses of earth dislodged by the explosion. Altogether 60 bodies have been recovered.

All but Mr. Kaufmann and Dr. Haviland were elected by acclamation.

SIXTY-SEVEN

More Indictments Returned by the Grand Jury at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 12.—Sixty-seven indictments against 25 individuals, most of whom are former county officials, were handed down by the grand jury, and the probing of the jury still goes on, the term not expiring until Sept. 1. The latest batch of true bills, added to the 38 returned 10 days ago, makes a total of 170 thus far. The latest list contains 20 names, there being, but five new names not before reported. Nearly all of the indictments charge bribery in the sum of $50, the amount, it is alleged, having been paid to present or former county officials in connection with the awarding of county contracts for the erection of an addition to the county hospital several years ago. Many of the indictments are the result of confessions of Otto Seidel, Jr., and Edward F. Strauss, former members of the county board.

CRIMINAL LIBEL

Charge Preferred Against New York Editor

BY AN IRATE KENTUCKIAN

SCURRILOUS STATEMENT MADE INVOLVED THE NAME

Of Alice Roosevelt and Congressman Rhinock and Longworth in Connection With Miss Roosevelt's Visit to Cincinnati.

New York, July 12.—Charging that he had been criminally libeled, and that in justice to Miss Alice Roosevelt and Representative Longworth, who were mentioned in connection with affairs some action must be taken, Representative Joseph L. Rhinock of the Sixth Congressional district of Kentucky, yesterday caused the arrest of Robert W. Criswell, publisher and editor of a weekly publication dealing with social matters.

Representative Rhinock's charges are sensational, inasmuch as in his complaint he mentions the name of Miss Alice Roosevelt and that of Representative Longworth, who has been spoken of several times as being a prospective fiancée of the President's daughter. Mr. Rhinock alleges that an article printed on June 21 of this year, and alleged to have been written by Criswell, is both defamatory and libelous, and does several persons a great wrong.

The article referred to was written in connection with Miss Roosevelt's trip to Cincinnati last month. While there she and Representative Longworth were seen a great deal together, once on the race track. Mr. Criswell is alleged to have written that Miss Roosevelt was used by Representative Longworth to boom his career.

The active libel which Representative Rhinock charges is alleged to exist in a paragraph which asserts that Representative Longworth introduced Miss Roosevelt to a "band of bookmakers," which, it is alleged, was written to include the complainant.

Further on in the article Rhinock is charged with having been indicted by the Campbell county grand jury for larceny, of which affair, it is said, Criswell wrote that, although friends of Rhinock did not appear to believe he was guilty of the crime, "the grand jury evidently thought so."

"Miss Roosevelt," the article continues, "did not know to whom she was being introduced and is no wise to blame, but those who introduced her are."

Representative Longworth and Rhinock are also referred to in the article as "a couple of social secretaries."

Representative Rhinock comes from the district which was represented by John G. Carlisle at one time. His home is in Covington, Ky., and he has several times been Mayor of that town. Congressman Rhinock was in court when the warrant was issued. He said:

"I am here to prosecute Mr. Criswell, both in behalf of myself and on the request of my friend, Congressman Longworth. Mr. Criswell did all he could to dissuade me from prosecuting him, explaining that the article had been written by a man in Cincinnati and had been published by mistake, and offered to make all kinds of retractions, but now that I am here I am going to see the thing through to the end."

Mr. Rhinock in court denied emphatically presenting bookmakers to Miss Roosevelt. Those whom he and Representative Longworth had presented to her he declared to be socially prominent and of irreproachable character.

"It is true that Miss Roosevelt went to the race track, and she did go to the club house," Mr. Rhinock said. "She did meet a number of persons, including George B. Cox the Republican leader of Cincinnati and a prominent man, and she met Mrs. Cox."

Bail was furnished for Criswell, and he was released, examination being set for July 17.

DEPENDS ON OSCAR

London, July 12.—The Publishers Press Association is in a position to confirm the report that an offer of the Norwegian throne has been made to King Edward's son-in-law, Prince Charles of Denmark. The matter is still under consideration. It is understood that King Edward and the British government are favorable to the project, but much depends on King Oscar's attitude on the subject.

CALHOUN AS COMMISSIONER

WILL EXAMINE INTO AND THEN REPORT THE SITUATION IN VENEZUELA.

Present Relations Between Castro's Government and Other Powers Will be Investigated.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 12.—President Roosevelt announces the appointment of Judge William Calhoun of Chicago to be special commissioner to Venezuela, the following official note being issued: "The president has appointed W. J. Calhoun of Chicago special commissioner to Venezuela. The president has been familiar with Mr. Calhoun's services in connection with the services in Cuba which I made for President McKinley's private information, and has also known of his work as interstate commerce commissioner. He has been designated as special commissioner to examine fully into the situation in Venezuela and report to the president exactly what the differences are between the United States and Venezuela and other foreign powers, and also to what has been arranged for other powers, which in any way conflicts with the interests of the United States. He is also to examine, although necessarily in a rather general way, into the complaint made by American companies as to the conduct of the Venezuelan government, and report to the president exactly as to which the equities are in these cases."

WILLIAM J. CALHOUN.

Judge Calhoun will make no inquiries relating to the Bowen-Loomis case. The president regards that as practically a closed incident. Judge Calhoun visited President Roosevelt about 10 days ago. The president at that time tendered him this appointment, and shortly afterwards he indicated his acceptance of it.

ELECTION OF MR. PATTISON

IS PREDICTED BY A REPUBLICAN LEADER OF NORTHWESTERN OHIO.

Defection From Cox-Herrick Ranks is Becoming General—Stampede Is Now On.

Toledo, O., July 12.—L. S. Jameson, Fulton county's avowed Republican leader, is out after Herrick's scalp. Not only does he predict the election of Pattison, but he practically places his endorsement and approval on the Democratic State convention and its doings. This startling state of affairs has caused no end of consternation in the Republican ranks hereabouts.

The defection in the Republican ranks, according to Jameson, is found greatest among the Hanna wing, due, it is believed, to the fact that the old line Republicans are sick and tired of bosses and political craft, to such an extent that the party is in the early stages of a revolution. So great will be the stampede that all the soothing influence of Dick will not be sufficient to stop it. In a letter to James D. Johnson, ex-Senator of Colina, Jameson says in part:

"Permit me to congratulate you over the good work of your (Democratic) State convention. By eliminating bossism and setting aside a lot of fool facts, that have kept your party in the minority, you have made it possible to carry the State, and I believe you will do so."

"Do not be at all surprised to hear that Pattison has carried this little bunch of territory in November. It certainly looks that way now. The old line Republicans are up in arms, and neither George B. Cox nor Dick can check what is going on."

GOADED TO REPLY

By the Attacks of His Numerous Critics

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER

GIVES OUT STATEMENT THROUGH HIS ATTORNEY

He Denies Story That He Took Unfair Advantage of Corrigan and Defends His Methods of Transacting Business.

Cleveland, O., July 12.—John D. Rockefeller, through his attorney, Charles Virgil P. Kline, gave out a statement, the first he has ever made in reply to criticisms of his business methods, refuting the charges made against him by Ida Tarbell, in her article in this month's McClure's magazine in the case of Corrigan vs. Rockefeller. Mr. Kline, speaking for Rockefeller, says:

"When on the 19th of February, 1895, Mr. Corrigan was indebted to Mr. Rockefeller in the sum of upwards of $417,000, of this sum over $25,000 was interest past due, while a large part of the principal had also matured. Mr. Rockefeller had also advanced, on account of a mining company with which Mr. Corrigan was interested, over $200,000, which was secured in part by indentments of Mr. Corrigan and in part by deposits of his stock in that company."

"In this situation of the indebtedness Mr. Corrigan, needing more money, entered into a contract with Mr. Rockefeller by the terms of which, among other things he sold to Mr. Rockefeller 2,500 shares of Standard Trust certificates, so-called, at the then market price of $168 per share, and out of the proceeds received $80,000 in cash, together with about 4,350 shares of his stock in the mining company for his present use, the remainder of purchase money being applied, under the terms of the contract, to certain securities to the ultimate working out of the indebtedness."

"On June 30, 1897, more than two years thereafter, Mr. Corrigan filed a petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga county against Mr. Rockefeller, bearing a fiduciary relationship toward him as a trustee for the purpose of acquiring his stock at less than its true value. Had made false representations to him as to the condition of the Standard Oil Trust, and the value of its shares and of his embarrassed condition to obtain from him an unfair bargain, and to induce him to make a sale had represented to him that the shares were not worth the price paid therefor."

The issues thus made were referred to Wm. S. Choate and Wm. D. Guthrie, of New York, and Wm. A. Lynch of Canton, Ohio, as arbitrators.

All the courts, Mr. Kline says, uphold their decision, which was in part as follows:

"We are satisfied from the evidence that the charges of actual fraud set forth in the complaint against the defendant are not proved. On the contrary, the evidence has satisfied us that the defendant made the purchase of the stock in question in good faith, and at what he believed to be its full value and a fair price."

CORRIGAN HITS BACK

Cleveland, O., July 12.—"Mr. Kline knows very well that Mr. Rockefeller robbed me, but he was paid to say that," said James Corrigan, the iron ore mine owner today, in referring to the formal statement issued by Virgil P. Kline, attorney for the Standard Oil company, and one of its leading counsel, in defense of John D. Rockefeller.

"Attorneys helped to rob me, in fact, but they were paid to do that too," he continued. "That account of Miss Tarbell's was about right, including the imputations. The case is really worse than Miss Tarbell put it. It is worse than any one has put it. It is an open robbery. Mr. Rockefeller is equal now. Legally, I suppose they got that case. Morally they were not entitled to it. The money was gotten out of me by fraud and Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Kline knew it."

Corrigan was most emphatic in these statements. Kline late yesterday gave out a long statement for Rockefeller, refuting the charges made by Miss Ida M. Tarbell in her articles in McClure's Magazine dealing with the Corrigan case. It is the first public notice Rockefeller has taken of the numerous publications reflecting upon his business methods.

Miss Tarbell's story of Rockefeller's deal with Corrigan, in brief says Corrigan owed Rockefeller $402,000, secured by Standard Oil shipping stock as collateral for a loan to Frank Rockefeller, Corrigan's partner. Corrigan was hard pressed. Rockefeller refused to make any terms that did not include surrender of Standard certificates. Corrigan obtained money to pay the entire debt and free the collateral. Rockefeller refused to accept the money, as the greater part of the debt was not due. In February, 1895, the 2,500 shares of Standard were sold to Rockefeller for $168 a share. A month later the Standard was quoted at $185. Corrigan questioned Rockefeller's right to buy the stock, and the case was tried before a board of arbitrators, who ruled in Rockefeller's favor. It was shown at the trial that Rockefeller was Corrigan's trustee. Corrigan declared Rockefeller withheld information of the stock's value and denied the existence of a surplus."

DEFEATS VANDERBILT

New York, July 12.—William K. Vanderbilt Jr., was put to the test yesterday as a candidate for chief of the Great Neck fire department, but his company could not muster enough votes to elect their candidate and the village grocery man was elected.

Two companies comprise the department—the Alert Hook and Ladder company of Great Neck and the Vigilant Engine and Hose company. Mr. Vanderbilt is an enrolled member of the latter.

It was mutually agreed that one company should select a chief this year and another next. The Vigilants selected Mr. Vanderbilt, but the Alerts put up Egbert L. Cluse, who was elected.

FREAK CYCLONE.

Vincennes, Ind., July 12.—A freak cyclone blatted over an area 200 yards by half a mile near Bruceville last evening, on the farm of Daniel Elliott. It carried away a Jersey cow, tore down trees and out-houses and barely missed the residence. The cyclone uprooted a cornfield for Henry Bauer, and spent its force in Prentice Polk's horse lot by uprooting eight immense oak trees.

Three bloody encounters between troops and striking shoemakers, in which about 29 persons were killed or wounded, occurred at Warsaw.

HUNT FOR GRAFTERS IS A GOOD

SIGN SAYS GOVERNOR JOS. FOLK

New York, July 12.—Governor Joseph Folk of Missouri, wires the World as follows:

"In response to your telegram as to my opinion of the significance of the 'grafting' exposures in Sunday's World and to whether it indicates a decadence in the moral tone of the American people, I have to say:

"The hunt for boodlers and 'grafters' now going on from one end of the land to the other is an evil, not of moral degeneration, but of moral awakening."

"Up to three years ago there had only been thirty-four cases of bribery reported in the books in the preceding hundred years of our country's history. This was not because the offense was uncommon, but for the reason it was unusual for any one to be prosecuted for what was then termed a 'conventional' crime. Men gave bribes and thought nothing of it; men took bribes and boasted of the fact; legislative halls became dens of thieves; the touch of the unclean dollar over all and the public conscience was asleep."

"JOSEPH W. FOLK, Governor of Missouri."

RANK EXTORTION

Practiced on People High in the Social Scale

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

OBTAINED BY SOLICITORS FROM SWELL FOLK

For Immunity from Adverse Comment in Certain Society Papers—E. M. Post Gives Five Hundred Dollars in Marked Bills.

New York, July 12.—The arrest and arraignment of Charles H. Ahle, on the charge of extortion would seem to indicate that a wholesale scheme of extortion has been practiced on people in high society and thousands of dollars obtained. Ahle, a solicitor for the society editors association, was arraigned on the complaint of Edwin M. Post, broker and society man. Ahle, who according to Post represented himself as in a position to speak for Charles Stokes Wayne, managing editor of Town Topics, was arrested yesterday after Post had handed to him $500 in marked bills. Ahle says the money was to pay for an edition of America's Smart Set. Post says the money was in reality to prevent the publication in Town Topics of certain facts in connection with his domestic life, which if garbled might be made to appear as a scandal in high life.

Ahle denied there was any attempt to extort money from any one and displayed his list of subscriptions to America's Smart Set at $500 a set. This list contains the names, among others, of the Vanderbilts, J. J. Astor, E. H. Gerry, Lloyd Phoenix and Harrison J. Drummond of St. Louis. Wayne says he knows nothing of Ahle's action and has no story about Post to print.

The society editors association of which Ahle is an authorized representative has offices opposite Town Topics. Charles Stokes Wayne is editor in chief.
